Employer Description

Students are learning essential life skills to help equip them for later life thanks to a partnership between Broadfield Specialist School and Hyndburn Homes. Huncoat Community House provides an environment where the pupils can learn safely in a realistic and practical way, while making it fun, interactive and memorable. Jayne Brignall, community investment officer for Hyndburn Homes helps to support at the sessions along with June Smith, community champion from Asda.

Role and Responsibilities

The students are learning how to deal with everyday challenges such as basic cooking, cleaning and running a home. They are shown how to work independently and how to plan and budget for their food shopping. This programme is designed to encourage improved communication, social interaction and for the students to gain confidence in different environments as well as improving their everyday living skills.

Comments from Dominic

Dominic engages well in the sessions, as you can see from the picture above Dominic seems to particularly enjoy shopping.

Comments from the Employer

Dominic has learned a variety of life skills whilst undertaking the programme at Huncoat Community House. He tries his best at all tasks set and attempts them with enthusiasm and a smile on his face.
